THE THIMBLE.—The name of this little instrument is said to have been derived from "thumb-bell," being at first thumble; and afterward thimble. It is of Dutch inven year 1605, by John Lofting, who commenced its manufacture at Islington, near Lon- ter of our future President : don, and pursued it with great profit and are cut into dies of about two inches diame- continued on with his work. ter. These being heated red hot, are struck with a pinch into a number of holes, gradumed, polished, and indented around its out er surface with a number of little holes, by | iment. means of a small wheel. It is then converttempered, scoured, and brought to a blue question? Gold leaf is then applied to the outside, and attached to it by pressure, the edges being fastened in a small groove made to receive them. The thimble is then ready for use .-

The Reese River Reveille, of the twenty-seventh ultimo, gives some account of the gem called turquoise, and of a turquoise mine existing in the Co-lumbus district. The turquoise stone is susceptible of high polish, and is much es teemed by connoisseurs of precious stones .-The choicest specimens are of a pale blue, with the faintest tinge of green, but in turquoise of an inferior kind the green predominutes. In Persia this gem is most highly prized, and the choicest specimens are obtained there. Little attention has as yet been paid to this deposit, but, judging from the fact that several specimens, varying in size from a small shot to an almond, have bor might be generously rewarded.
